

A Directory of Finding Aids to NYG&B Archival Collections at the New York Public Library

The New York Genealogical and Biographical Society donated its library collection to the New York Public Library in 2008, and all items are located at the Library's Stephen A. Schwarzman Building (Fifth Avenue and 42nd Street) in New York City. Archival material donated by the NYG&B may be found both in the Manuscript Division and in the Irma and Paul Milstein Division of United States History, Local History and Genealogy. Below is a list of collection descriptions with links to Finding Aids that have been created by NYPL staff to assist researchers in using the NYG&B Archival Collections.
